

DIVISION OF RESEARCH
FLORIDA ATLANTIC UNIVERSITY

VIRTUAL RESEARCH IN ACTION

With more than 44 years of experience in the field of special education, Maryellen Quinn-Lunny, Ph.D., serves as director of the FAU Center for Autism and Related Disabilities, which provides free consulting, training and support to those with autism and related disabilities, their families and employers.

Join Quinn-Lunny as she discusses:

- Disproportionality in autism spectrum disorder (ASD)
- Benefits of early intervention for prognosis and outcomes
- Her research on Black families through the ASD Identification process
- Bridging needs with resources after receiving an ASD identification

Supporting the Spectrum

Presented by Maryellen Quinn-Lunny, Ph.D., director, FAU Center for Autism
and Related Disabilities

1 – 2 P.M. EST
WEDNESDAY, FEB. 15

CLICK TO ATTEND VIA
ZOOM OR SCAN QR

